

Dear Customer,

The information provided during your booking inquiry has prompted Cathay Pacific Airways to request a MEDA (Passenger Medical Clearance) form to be completed by you and your treating doctor.

Some passengers will need special medical consideration when they travel. This may involve clearance for fitness to fly after a recent illness, medical procedure or surgery, a request for use of a passenger's own medical equipment during the flight, or a need for Cathay Pacific to provide oxygen during the flight or wheelchair assistance. Please note that wheelchair use will be free but provision of in-flight oxygen will carry a charge which will be non-refundable even for unused cylinders.

The purpose of the MEDA form is to enable Cathay Pacific in conjunction with your doctor to ensure that you are able to travel safely. Part 1 of the MEDA form is to be filled in by you, the passenger, while Part 2 is to be completed by your treating doctor.

Please ensure that the MEDA form is returned to your local Cathay Pacific reservation office, on XXXXXX, at least two working days before the date you wish to travel, otherwise there is a risk that you may not be able to travel on your preferred flight if there is a delay in the assessment of this form. Please note that any charges made by your doctor for completing the form will be at your own expense.

Once Cathay Pacific receives the form and it is assessed by the Aviation Medicine team, a member of Cathay Pacific staff may contact you to discuss your medical clearance.

By providing the information requested in the MEDA form, you are waiving the confidentiality of the information disclosed by your treating doctor. In order to ensure your requests are conveyed to the relevant connecting airlines, Cathay Pacific will disclose the contents of the MEDA form to all carriers associated with this ticket but not to any other third party without your consent, unless required by law.

Cathay Pacific wishes to ensure that all its passengers fly safely, therefore it is in your best interest to disclose all relevant medical information before you travel.

If you have any questions relating to the MEDA form, please direct it to your local Cathay Pacific reservation office.
